In 11 years as the head of the Auburn University women's gymnastics program, Thompson was named the SEC Coach teams improved each year. The Tigers qualified for NCAA Regionals eight consecutive years.

As a coaching team at Auburn, the Thompsons produced four NCAA All-Americans, four All-SEC team members, three SEC Gymnast of the Year winners and one SEC Freshman of the Year. Jeff and Rachelle have two sons, Parker (16) and Griffin (14).

Rachelle Thompson begins her second season as the associate head coach of the Penn State women's gymnastics program. Prior to Penn State, Thompson spent 11 years at Auburn University in Alabama. Her husband, Jeff, serves as the head coach.

During her first season as the associate head coach at Penn State, Thompson helped coach the Nittany Lions to a second place finish in the 2011 Big Ten Championship with two Nittany Lions capturing individual event titles. Penn State also earned a berth in the NCAA Regional Championships as the No. 2 seed. Sharaya Musser advanced to the NCAA National Championships representing the Nittany Lions.

Thompson joined the Auburn staff in 1999 as a choreographer and volunteer coach before being promoted to assistant coach in 2002 and associate head coach in 2006. Her responsibilities included, but were not limited to, coaching beam and floor, choreographing beam and floor routines, managing all meet contracts, scheduling community service projects, recruiting, as well as handling travel arrangements and the budget. She was a two-time

Auburn University Assistant Coach of the Year and was selected the 2008 NACGC/W Central Region Assistant Coach of the Year.

As a coaching team at Auburn, the Thompsons produced four NCAA All-Americans, four All-SEC team members, three SEC Gymnasts of the Year winners and one SEC Freshman of the Year. They coached nine NCAA Championship individual qualifiers and four NCAA Regional Event Champions.

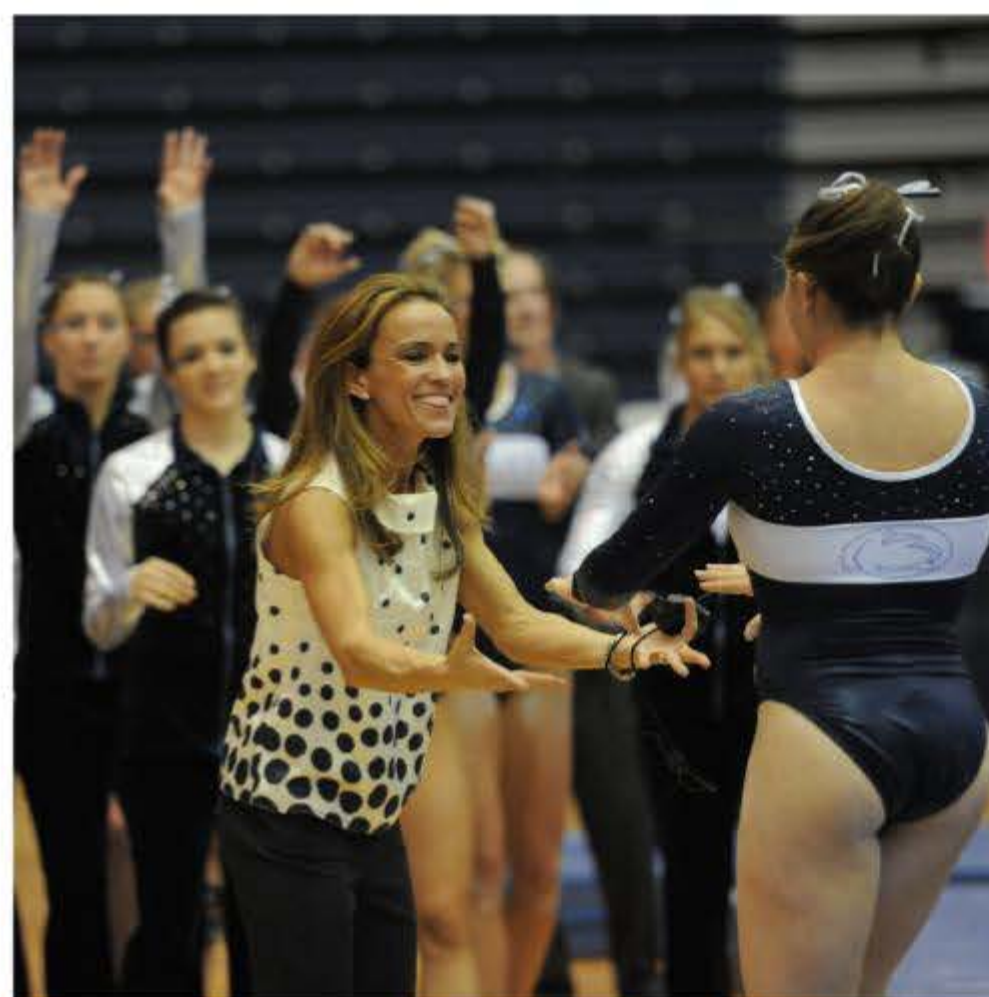

Their gymnasts also excelled in the classroom and in the community. They had three SEC Scholar-Athlete of the Year winners, three CoSIDA/ESPN The Magazine Academic All-District members, 41 NACGC/W Academic All-Americans and 53 SEC Academic Honor Roll selections.

Prior to joining the Tiger staff, Rachelle was a choreographer and volunteer coach at LSU for six years and at Illinois from 1992-93.

Thompson attended LSU and was a three-time NCAA All-American gymnast. She was a finalist for the American Award honoring the Top Five Senior Gymnasts, as well as a finalist for the Honda-Broderick Cup.

Thompson earned a Bachelor of Science and Education from Auburn.

Rachelle and Jeff have two sons, Parker (16) and Griffin (14).

Assistant Coach Randy Monahan

Assistant coach Randy Monahan enters his fourth season with the Penn State women's gymnastics program. With the Nittany Lions, Monahan aids in recruiting and training student-athletes along with various other aspects of the program.

"Randy is one of the finest assistant coaches in NCAA Gymnastics," said head coach Jeff Thompson. "His competitive experience combined with his technical knowledge enables him to put his coaching into terms that every one of our gymnasts can understand and use. He not only can tell them 'why' it will work, he can tell them how it will 'feel' to do it that way. His years of experience as a competitor have also helped him develop our strength and conditioning program. We use nothing but our own body weight to develop the strength, flexibility and endurance that we require in a way that makes sense to everyone on the team. He is also a great recruiter and has been instrumental in helping us land several top gymnasts over the past two seasons."

Monahan was a member of the Ohio State men's team from 2001 to 2005 and was a seven-time All-American with the Buckeyes, who captured Big Ten titles in 2002 and 2005. He was the Big Ten Gymnast of the Year and also captured the Big Ten All-Around title in 2003 and 2004 and was a Nissen-Emery Finalist in 2005, finishing second in the all-around at the NCAA Championships that same year.

Monahan comes to Penn State from the club coaching ranks, most recently with Artistic Sports Academy Plus out of Harrisburg, Pa. At Artistic Sports, Monahan assisted the head coach in instruction and analysis of youth athletes as well as various coaching and instructional responsibilities. He was also employed by EJM Food Corporation as a Quality Control Specialist.

Prior to his time in the Harrisburg area, Monahan was a coach at Buckeye Gymnastics where he worked with a wide variety of athletes from levels 4-10. He also served as a volunteer assistant coach with the Ohio State men's team where he assisted in instructional and managerial capacities as well as having training and competitive responsibilities.

Monahan graduated from Ohio State in 2006 with a Bachelor of Science degree in human ecology. Monahan is married to volunteer assistant coach Jillian Monahan. They reside in State College.

Building A Team...

While Penn State women's gymnastics is a team, it's also a family. It is a bond that is strengthened through blood, sweat and tears in the gym and laughter, helping hands and teamwork out of the gym. All of these components build trust, friendships and strong ties, which are necessary to take the team to the next level and have fun along the way. Whether it's the traditional team run up Mt. Nittany, theme weeks in the gym, team dinners, community service or just hanging out at a football game with 110,000 of your closest friends, the Penn State women's gymnastics team is a family in and out of the gym.

at Ohio State • February 26

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. - The No. 10 Penn State women's gymnastics team posted a 196.325 to earn the win against No. 17 Ohio State Saturday. The Buckeyes scored a 195.900.

"It was one of the most exciting gymnastics meets that I've been part of in a long time," said head coach Jeff Thompson. "It came down to the final performer on both sides and it's not coincidental that our word for the day was 'fight.' We had talked in the locker room about women with breast cancer fighting with their lives, with some winning the fight and some losing, as well as what it's like to be the family of those individuals. The last five girls on floor all really grabbed hold of the rope and each fought until the very end to get us the win."

Penn State sophomore Sharaya Musser won the all-around with a combined score of 39.550. Ohio State's Melanie Shaffer was second with a 39.350. Benscko finished with a 39.325, while Merriam posted a 38.500. Musser also earned the Ann Carr Award as the meet's Most Inspirational Gymnast.

Penn State and Ohio State came out nearly even in the first rotation with the Nittany Lions holding only a slight advantage before the teams switched events. Led by crowd-pleasing Musser, who scored a meet-best 9.875 on the vault, the Nittany Lions posted a 48.700 to Ohio State's 48.675 on the uneven bars.

The Nittany Lions really hit their stride on the uneven bars, which has been the strongest scoring event for Penn State most of the season. The top five scorers on the uneven bars were all Nittany Lions, including a 9.925 for Musser, which tied her career high and marks her high for the season. Three other Nittany Lions posted above a 9.800 in the event including 9.850 from junior Whitney Benscko, a 9.850 from junior Alex Stine, which ties her career high, and a 9.800 from junior Natalie Ettl. Penn State took the 97.900-97.625 lead in the third rotation, where they would compete on the beam and the Buckeyes would take to the floor exercise.

Musser paced the Nittany Lions with a 9.925. Benscko and junior Daryl Konsevic added a 9.850 and a 9.825, which helped the team to a 49.375. Penn State took the 146.950-146.775 advantage into the final rotation.

Penn State looked to finish the Buckeyes off with a strong showing on the floor exercise, and did just that. Highlighted by two career highs for the Nittany Lions, Penn State held command of the meet and never looked back. Sophomore Madison Merriam hit her routine, scoring a career high and meet high 9.925, while Benscko and Konsevic both earned 9.900.

Konsevic's mark was a career high for the junior. Nittany Lions occupied the top three slots in the event, leading Penn State to a season-high score on the floor of 49.375, besting its previous season-high of 49.100 at Maryland a week ago.

The Nittany Lion gymnastics squad will host four home meets during the 2012 season. Rec Hall (pictured above) is the home of Nittany Lion gymnastics competition and has served as the home of the Big Ten Men's and Women's Gymnastics Championships and Regional and NCAA Championship competition.

The Penn State gymnastics facilities fall into two categories: rich in tradition with an extensive gymnastics history, or modern, state of the art and brand new.

Recreation Building, as it is officially named, has the tradition. Since 1943, the gymnasium has hosted championship and international gymnastic meets. It has been the site of four Olympic Trials, 15 international meets, and six national collegiate gymnastics championships.

In 1984, 1986, 1988, 1989, 1992, 1996, 1999, 2000, 2002, 2004, 2008 and 2010, Rec Hall was the site of the NCAA Women's Gymnastics Northeast Regional Meets.

A gymnastics-friendly arena, Rec Hall was also the site for the 2000 and 2007 Big Ten Women's Gymnastics Championships.

Rec Hall was built in 1929 and remodeled in 1965. The seating increased from 5,000 to 7,200, but recent changes have resulted in a current capacity of 5,812.

Considered a preferred site for championship events in gymnastics, Rec Hall has scoreboards on the East and West ends designed for gymnastics scoring.

Olympians Cathy Rigby from the United States and Ludmilla Tourischeva from the Soviet Union have competed in Rec Hall.

The top crowd ever in Rec Hall - 8,700 - was on hand when the Nittany Lions hosted No. 1 Utah on March 11, 1981. When Penn State met Cal State - Fullerton on Feb. 2, 1980, the attendance was 8,532.

While Rec Hall hosts Penn State's competitive meets, the women's gymnastics team practices in the White Building. The White Building is located in the middle of campus and was the site of the Nittany Lions' first competitions.

The White Building facility was renovated once again prior to the 2001 season. The 13,400 square feet of renovated space cost nearly $2 million to complete. The additions to the facility included loose foam and resi-pits. The extra space allows extra room for three sets of equipment, making this one of the finest collegiate facilities in the nation.

The Nittany Lions also utilize the intercollegiate weight room in Rec Hall. The facility is used by intercollegiate athletes only and is specially designed to fit the needs of an intercollegiate varsity squad.

Gymnastics Facilities

The Penn State women's gymnastics team trains in the White Building, centrally located on the Penn State campus. The squad's training base is situated just one block from the dormitory that houses many of Penn State's gymnasts.

The White Building has been home to the Nittany Lion gymnastics team since 1976. Extensively renovated during the summer and fall of 2000 at a cost of nearly two million dollars, the gym's design and its amenities make it one of the finest gymnastics facilities in the country.

The state-of-the-art facility features 13,400 square feet of training space which is nearly twice the size of most collegiate facilities. The team has the benefit of working on new AAI equipment and landing mats at a multitude of training stations. There are two 40 square foot floor exercise systems, each with a Resi pit adjacent for tumbling, and a 68-foot tumbling strip where gymnasts can choose between a Resi pit or a deep foam pit landing.

Three vaulting stations are available, maximizing the gymnasts' ability to train using safe and effective progressions. Solid foam landing pits are available for every event.

Complete with new heating and air conditioning systems, upgraded lighting and a unique architectural design, the gym is not only functional but beautiful, as well. Motorized blinds have been installed to filter out sunlight from the 32 spacious windows which adorn the gym.

The Penn State gymnastics practice facility features all the amenities required of a first-class gymnastics program following its nearly $2 million renovation.

Academic Success

Penn State is not only among the top teams in the nation athletically, but also academically. The Nittany Lions consistently produce one of the highest team grade point averages in the country while also racking up several of the highest individual grade point averages. In 2009 Penn State finished 35th in the nation with a team GPA of 3.28 and four Nittany Lion student-athletes were named Scholar Athletes by the National Association of Collegiate Gymnastics Coaches/Women (NACGC/W). To be recognized as a Scholar Athlete, students must have a 3.50 grade point average or higher.

SARAH COWART
Academic Counselor

The women's gymnastics program at Penn State prides itself on excellence, both in the gym and in the classroom. One of the primary academic resources for gymnasts is the Morgan Academic Center. Located in MBNA Building in the middle of campus, the center provides a full range of services for intercollegiate athletes, including academic advising, career counseling, sports psychology, and sports research.

The purpose of the center is to help the student-athlete make normal progress toward graduation while managing the demands associated with attending a major NCAA Division I institution. Specific objectives include helping student-athletes develop individualized academic plans, providing the means by which student-athletes can assume full responsibility for their education, and assisting freshman student-athletes in making a successful transition to college life.

That philosophy is evident in the Big Ten Academic All-Conference team. The Nittany Lions, in their 19 years in the Big Ten, have placed 130 student-athletes on the Academic All-Conference team.
